Consistent with the goal of facilitating the productivity of diverse scholars at MSU, the Diversity Research Network Researcher’s Workshop provides informative, interactive venues for scholarly research information and consultation while addressing the unique experiences and concerns of diverse and diversity researchers. We offer the opportunity for collaborative networking and community, founded in the productive work of our MSU scholars. We welcome you to explore the day with us, listen to speakers and panels, receive a statistical or grant consultation, with breakfast and lunch served.

Register

Agenda

Breakfast and Registration
8:00 am to 8:30 am

Opening Introductions
8:30 am to 8:45 am
Deborah J. Johnson, Director, Diversity Research Network, Office for Inclusion and Intercultural Initiatives

Individual Consultations
- Tom Hollon, Office of the Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies
- Dhruv Sharma, Center for Statistical Training and Consulting (CSTAT)
- Wenjuan Ma, Center for Statistical Training and Consulting (CSTAT)

Sign up for consultations via registration link, or during workshop if slots are still available
Note: Lunch is 11:30 am to 12:30 pm. No consultations are during the lunch hour

Presentations and Panels

Preventing Shipwreck: Grant Improvement
8:45 am to 10:00 am
Tom Hollon, Office of the Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies

Success in Collaborative Research Contexts
10:05 am to 11:30 am
Chu-Hsiang (Daisy) Chang, Psychology
Patricia Marin, Education
Farha Abbasi, Human Medicine
Andrea Louie, Anthropology

Pursuing Personally-Defined Success and Excellence in Context
12:45 pm to 1:45 pm
Beronda L. Montgomery, MSU Foundation Professor

Community Based Research within Communities of Color
2:00 pm to 3:30 pm
Kelly Brittain, Nursing
Yomaira Figueroa, English
Ike Iyioke, Division of Public Health-College of Human Medicine